"He's the only one in the United States who knows how to write haikus... Kerouac thinks in haikus, every time he writes anything—talks that way and thinks that way. So it's just natural for him... He's the only master of the haiku."

"The American Haiku is not exactly the Japanese Haiku. The Japanese Haiku is strictly disciplined to seventeen syllables but since the language structure is different I don't think American Haikus (short three-line poems intended to be completely packed with Void of Whole) should worry about syllables because American speech is something again... bursting to pop. Above all, a Haiku must be very simple and free of all poetic trickery and make a little picture and yet be as airy and graceful as a Vivaldi Pastorella."

Jack Kerouac

Then I'll invent
The American Haiku type
The simple rhyming triolet:-- Seventeen syllables?
No, as I say, American Pops:-- Simple 3-line poems

Jack Kerouac - Reading Notes, 1965

Renowned for his groundbreaking Beat Generation novel On the Road, Jack Kerouac was also a master of the haiku. He incorporated his nearly 1,000 American haiku pops in novels and in his correspondence, notebooks, journals, sketchbooks, and recordings. A selection is listed in alphabetical order below.

Jack Kerouac spent 63 days during the summer of 1956 as a fire lookout on Desolation Peak. He wrote about his experiences in the books Lonesome Traveler, The Dharma Bums, and Desolation Angels. The 'Desolation Pops' manuscript is a collection of seventy-two haiku experiments, numbered by the author, represent Kerouac's effort in relating his mountain loneliness to nature and mystical experience.

2 traveling salesmen passing each other On a Western road

50 miles from N.Y.
all alone in Nature,
The squirrel eating A balloon caught in the tree - dusk In Central Park zoo

Abbid abbyd ingrati
    - Lighthouse
On the Azores

A black bull and a white bird Standing together on the shore

A big fat flake of snow
Falling all alone

A bird hanging on the wire At dawn

A bird on the branch out there
    - I waved

A bird pecking kernels on a grassy hillside Just mowed

A bottle of wine, a bishop - Everything is God

A bubble, a shadow - woop - The lightning flash

A car is coming but the cat knows It's not a snake

A current pimple
    In the mind’s Old man

After a year and a half finally saw the rat Big and fat

After supper on crossed paws,
The cat meditates

After the earthquake, A child crying
In the silence

After the shower,
    among the drenched roses, the bird thrashing in the bath
    my cat meowing on the porch

After the shower
    the red roses
In the green, green

A full November moon and mild, Mary Carney

Ah, Genghiz Khan weeping - where did Autumn go?

Ah Jerusalem - how many Autumn saints slaughtered Thee with Christ?

Ah the birds
    at dawn,
my mother and father

Ah, the crickets are screaming at the moon

Ah who cares?
    I’ll do what I want - Roll another joint

All day long wearing a hat that wasn't On my head

All I see is what I see - Red fire sunset

All that ocean of blue soon as those clouds Pass away

All the insects ceased in honor Of the moon
(Desolation Pops, 28)

All these sages Sleep with their mouths open

All the wash on the line Advanced one foot

Alone at home reading Yoka Daishi, Drinking tea Alone, in old clothes, sipping wine Beneath the moon

A long island in the sky
The Milky Way

A long way from The Beat Generation
In the rain forest

Alpine fir with snowcap’t backround –
It doesn’t matter

America: fishing licenses the license
To meditate

Am I a flower bee, that you Stare at me?

A million acres of Bo-trees And not one Buddha
(Desolation Pops, 51)

Among the nervous birds the morning dove Nibbles quietly

A mother & son just took a shortcut Thru my yard

Ancient ancient world — tight skirts
By the new car

And as for Kennedy — in Autumn he slept By swishing peaceful trees

And the quiet cat sitting by the post Perceives the moon

Answered a letter and took a hot bath — Spring rain

Apassionata Sonata
— hiballs, gray
Afternoon in October

April mist — under the pine At midnight
A pussywillow grew there At the foot Of the breathless tree

A quiet Autumn night and these fools Are starting to argue

A quiet moment - low lamp, low logs - Just cooking the stew

A raindrop from the roof Fell in my beer

Arms folded to the moon, Among the cows

A spring mosquito dont even know How to bite!

As the cool evenings make themselves felt, Smoke from suburban chimneys

Asking Albert Saijo for a haiku, He said nothing

A stump with sawdust
   - a place

At a Coney Island hamburger In Vancouver Washington
(Desolation Pops, 3)

At night
   The girl I denied Walking away

A turtle sailing along on a log, Head up

Aurora borealis over Mount Hozomeen - The world is eternal (Desolation Pops, 70)

Aurora Borealis
   over the Hozomeen - The void is stiller
(Desolation Pops, 33)
Autumnal cowflops - a man Makes a living.

Autumnal Cowflops - but a man must make a living.

Autumn eve - my mother playing old

Autumn night in New Haven
    - the Whippennpoofers Singing on the train

Autumn night
    low moon - Fire in Smithtown

    Salvation Army sign
On a cold brick building

Autumn night stove
- I’ve never been on a farm before.

Autumn nite
    - Lucien leans to Jack on the couch.

Autumn nite -
Lucien’s wife Playing the guitar

Autumn nite -
my mother cuts her throat

Autumn nite - my mother remembers my birth

Autumn nite -
the boys playing haiku.

August in Salinas - Autumn leaves in Clothing store displays

August moon - oh
    I got a boil On my thigh

August Moon Universe
    - neither new Nor old

A whole pussywillow over there, Unblown

A yellow witch chewing a cigarette, Those Autumn leaves

Bach through an open dawn window - the birds are silent

Barefoot by the sea, stopping to scratch one ankle With one toe

Barley soup in Scotland in November - Misery everywhere

Bee, why are you staring at me?
I'm not a flower!

Beautiful young girls running up the library steps With shorts on Beautiful summer night gorgeous as the robes Of Jesus

Big books packaged from Japan - Ritz crackers

Big drinking & piano parties - Christmas Come and gone -

Big wall of clouds from the North Coming in - brrrr!
(Desolation Pops, 69)

Bird bath trashing, by itself - Autumn wind

Birds chirp fog Bugs the gate

Birds flew Over the shack Rejoicing

Birds flying north - Where are the squirrels?
There goes a plane to Boston

Birds singing in the dark
In the rainy dawn

Bird suddenly quiet on his branch - his Wife glancing at him

Bird was gone and distance grew Immensely white
(Desolation Pops, 64)

Black bird - no!
    bluebird - pear Branch still jumping

Blizzard in the suburbs
    - the mailman
And the poet walking

    - old man driving slowly
To the store 3 blocks

Blizzard’s just started all that bread scattered, And just one bird

Blowing in an afternoon wind, on a white fence,
A cobweb

Blueberry dubbery the chipmunk’s
In the grass
(Desolation Pops, 68)

Bluejay drinking at my saucer of milk, Throwing his head back

Breakfast done the tomcat curls up On the down couch

Bred to rejoice, the giggling sunshine leaves
(Desolation Pops, 14)

Brighter than the night, my barn roof
Of snow

Brokenback goodshit Heap bigshot among the Birchtrees.

Buddha laughing on Mt. Lanka!
Like Jimmy Durante!
Buddhas in moonlight
   - Mosquito bite thru hole in my shirt

Buds in the snow
   - the deadly fight between two birds

Butterfat soil of the valley -

But the Lost Creek trail they dont believe Is in existence any more (Desolation Pops, 67)

Came down from my ivory tower And found no world

Cat eating fish heads
   - All those eyes
In the starlight

Catfish fighting for his life, and winning,
Splashing us all

Cat gone 24 hours
   - A piece of his hair

Change Su Chi’s art studio, a silent Shade in the window

Chief Crazy Horse looks tearfully north
The first snow flurries

Chipmunk went in
   - butterfly Came out
(Desolation Pops, 71)

Chou en Lai, his briefcase should be fulla leaves, For all I know

Christ on the Cross crying
   - his mother missed Her October porridge

Churchbells ringing in town
   - The caterpillar
In the grass

Close your eyes - Landlord knocking
On the back door Closing the book, rubbing my eyes - The sleepy August dawn

Cloudy autumn nite
- cold water drips in the sink.

Coffee beans!
   - Methinks I smell
The Canaries!

Cold crisp October morning
   - the cats fighting
In the weeds

Cold gray tufts of winter grass
Under the stars

Coming from the West, covering the moon, Clouds - not a sound

Concatenation! - the bicycle pulls the wagon Because the rope is tied

Content, the top trees shrouded In gray fog
(Desolation Pops, 13)

Cool breeze - maybe just a shillyshallying snow That'll ruin everything

Cool breezy morning
   - the cat is rolling On his back

Cool sunny autumn day, I’ll mow the lawn one last time

Cradled and warm, the upper snow,
The trackless
(Desolation Pops, 15)

Crisp wind
   My tired limbs Relaxed before the coals

Crossing the football field, coming home from work,
The lonely businessman

Dawn, a falling star
- A dewdrop lands
On my head!

Dawn - crows cawing, ducks quack quacking, Kitchen windows lighting

Dawn - the first robins singing to the new moon

Dawn - the tomcat hurrying home
With his tail down

Dawn - the writer who hasn’t shaved, Poring over notebooks

Dawn wind in the spruces
- The late moon

Debris on the lake
  - my soul
Is upset
(Desolation Pops, 22)

Desk cluttered with mail - My mind is quiet

Desolation, Desolation,
  so hard To come down off of Desolation, Desolation,

  wherefore have you Earned you name?

Disturbing my mind essence, all that food
I have to cook

Do you know why my name is Jack?
  Why?
That’s why.

Drinking wine
  - the Queen of Greece on a postage stamp

Drizzle - Midnight pine,
I sit dry

Drunk as a hoot owl writing letters
By thunderstorm Drunken deterioration - ho-hum, Shooting star

Dusk - boy smashing dandelions
With a stick

Dusk in the holy woods - Dust on my window

   what’s left of An ancient pier

Dusk - the bird on the fence

Dusk - The blizzard hides everything, Even the night

Early morning gentle rain, two big bumblebees Humming at their work

Early morning with the happy dogs - I forgot the Path

Early morning yellow flowers
   - Thinking about The drunkards of Mexico

Elephants munching on grass - loving Head side by side

Eleven quick skulks to Fall
And still cool

Emptiness of the Ananda glass bead, Is the bowing weeds

Empty baseball field
   - A robin, Hops along the bench

Evening coming -
   The office girl unloosing her scarf

Everlastingly loose and responsive,
The cloud business
(Desolation Pops, 16)
Every cat in Kyoto can see through the fog

Everyone of my knocks disturbs my daughter Sleeping in her December grave

Everywhere beyond the Truth, Empty space blue
(Desolation Pops, 17)

February dawn - frost on the path Where I paced all winter

February gales - racing westward through The clouds, the moon

Fiddlydee! - Another day, Another something-or-other!

Fighting over a peach stone, bluejays
In the bushes

First December cold wave - not even One cricket

First frost dropped all leaves
Last night - leafsmoke

Flowers aim crookedly
At the straight death

For a moment
the moon Wore goggles

Following each other, my cats stop When it thunders

Forever and forever everything’s alright - midnight woods

Four bluejays quiet in the afternoon tree, Occasionally scratching

Four in morning - creak my mother In her bed Free as a pine goofing For the wind

Frogs don’t care just sit there Brooding on the moon

Front hooves spread, the mule scratches his Neck along a log

Frozen
in the birdbath, A leaf

Full moon in the trees
- across the street, the jail

Full moon of October
- The tiny mew of the Kitty

Full moon -
Pine tree - Old house

Full moon, white snow, - my bottle
Of purple jello
(Desolation Pops, 30)

Gary (Snyder) gone from the shack like smoke
- My lonely shoes

Gary Snyder is a haiku far away

Gee last night - dreamed Of Harry Truman
(Desolation Pops, 23)

Geronimo, in Autumn says no to peaceful Cochise - Smoke rises

Get to go - fork a hoss And head for Mexico
(Desolation Pops, 39)

Ghengis Khan looks fiercely east, with red eyes, Hungering for Autumn vengeance

Girls' footprints in the sand
- Old mossy pile

Girl trapped beneath the steering wheel, beautiful As the Dalai Lama’s dream

Girl with wagon - what do I know?

Giving an apple to the mule, the big lips Taking hold

Glow worms brightly sleeping On my flowers

Glow worm sleeping on this flower, Your light's on!

God’s dream, It’s only A dream

Grain Elevators are tall trucks that let the road approach them

Grain Elevators on Saturday waiting for The farmers to come home

Grain elevators, waiting for the road To approach them

Grass waves, hens chuckle, Nothing’s happening

Gray day - the blue spruce Is green

Gray orb of the moon behind silver clouds - The Spanish moss

Gray spring rain
   - I never clipped My hedges

Greyhound bus, flowing all night, Virginia

Gull sailing in the saffron sky -
Haiku! Haiku!
Still wears a bandage Over his injured eye!

Haiku my eyes!
my mother is calling!

Haiku, shmaiku, I cant understand the intention of reality

Halloween colors orange and black On a summer butterfly

Hand in hand in a red valley with the universal schoolteacher - the first morning

Haunted Autumn visiting familiar August, Those last 2 days

Haydn’s creation or Coleman Hawkins, I can Fix em just right

Here comes My dragon - goodbye!

Here comes the nightly moth, to his nightly Death, at my lamp

Her yellow dolls bowing on the shelf - My dead step grandmother

Highest perfect fool - the wisdom
Of the two-legged rat

High in the Sky

Holding up my purring cat to the moon, I sighed

Holy sleep
-  Hanshan Was right
(Desolation Pops, 72)

Horse waving his tail in a field of clover At sundown

Hot coffee and a cigarette - why zazen?
(Desolation Pops, 32)

Hot tea, in the cold moonlit snow - a burp

How cold! - late September baseball -
The crickets

How’d those guys get in here, those two flies?

How many cats they need around here For any orgy?

How flowers love
the sun, Blinking there!

How that butterfly’ll wake up When someone Bongs that bell!
Cf. Yosa Buson (1716-1784): The butterfly / Resting upon the temple bell, / Asleep.

Huge knot in the Redwood tree Looking like Zeus’ face

Hummingbird hums hello - bugs Race and swoop

Hurrying things along, Autumn rain
On my awning

I called - Dipankara instructed me By saying nothing
(Desolation Pops, 60)

I called Hanshan in the fog - Silence, it said

I called Hanshan
in the mountains
- there was no answer
(Desolation Pops, 57)

I close my eyes - I hear & see Mandala
(Desolation Pops, 10)

I don’t care -
the low yellow Moon loves me
I don’t care what thusness is I drink my tea and say Hm hm

If I go out now, my paws will get wet I found my cat - one Silent star Ignoring my bread, the bird peeking
In the grass
I gotta make it in terms /that anyone can understand/Did I tell ya about my nightmare?

I hate the ecstasy
Of that rose,
That hairy rose I'll climb up a tree and scratch Katapatafataya

I made raspberry fruit jello
The color of rubies In the setting sun I’m back here in the middle of nowhere - At least I think so (Desolation Pops, 35)

I’m so mad
I could bite
The montaintops
(Desolation Pops, 31)
In a Mojave dust storm Albert said: "Senzeie, Was a Mongolian waif"

In Autumn Geronimo weeps - no pony With a blanket

In back of the Supermarket, in the parking lot weeds, Purple flowers

In enormous blizzard
  burying everything
My cat’s out mating

My cat turned back

In Hakkaido a cat has no luck

In London-town cats can sleep
In the butcher's doorway.

In my medicine cabinet the winter fly Has died of old age

In the chair
  I decided to call Haiku
By the name of Pop

In the desert sun in Arizona, A yellow railroad caboose

In the late afternoon peaks, I see The hope
(Desolation Pops, 25)

In the lovely sun reading lovely Haikus - Spring

In the middle of the corn, a new Car slithering

In the morning frost the cats Stepped slowly

In the quiet house, my mother's Moaning yawns
In the sun the butterfly wings Like a church window

Iowa clouds
Into Eternity

I rubbed my bearded cheek and looked in The mirror - Ki!
(Desolation Pops, 61)

I said a joke
under the stars
- No laughter

I should have scratched that spot before I started to sleep

I’ve turned up the lamp again
- The sleeping moth

I went in the woods
to meditate -
It was too cold

I woke up
- two flies were boffing
On my forehead

Jack reads his book aloud at nite
- the stars come out.

Juzu beads on the Zen manual -
My knees are cold

June - the snow of blossoms On the ground

Just woke up
- afternoon pines Playing the wind

Kicked the cupboard and hurt my toe
- Rage
(Desolation Pops, 43)

Kneedeep in the blizzard, the ancient Misery of the cat

Kneedeep, teeth to the blizzard, My cat gazing at me Late afternoon –
   it’s not the void That changed
(Desolation Pops, 44)

Late afternoon –
   my bare back’s Cold
(Desolation Pops, 41)

Late afternoon –
   the lake sparkle Blinds me

Late afternoon –
   the mop is drying On the rock

Late April dusk bluster – Lions & lambs

Late autumn nite the last faint cricket.

Late moon rising
   - Frost
On the grass

Lay the pencil away - no more thoughts, no lead

Leaf dropping straight In the windless midnight:
The dream of change

Leaves falling everywhere in the November Midnight moonshine

Leaves skittering on the tin roof
- August fog in Big Sur

Lilacs at dusk
   - one petal fell

Listen to the birds sing!
   All the little birds Will die!

Listening to birds using different voices, losing My perspective of History Little frogs screaming in the ditch At nightfall

Little pieces of ice in the moonlight
Snow, thousands of em

Lonely brickwalls in Detroit Sunday afternoon
piss call

Lonesome blubbers grinding out the decades with wet lips

Looking around to think I saw the thick white cloud

Looking for my cat
    in the weeds,
I found a butterfly

Looking up at the stars, feeling sad,
Going "tsk tsk tsk"

Looking up to see the airplane
I only saw the TV aerial

Lost cat Timmy - he wont be back In a blue moon

Loves his own belly
    The way I love my life,
The white cat

Made hot cocoa at night,
Sang by woodfire
(Desolation Pops, 56)

Mild spring night - a teenage girl said
"Good evening" in the dark

Missing a kick at the icebox door It closed anyway

Mist before the peak
    - the dream Goes on

Mist boiling from the ridge - the mountains Are clean

Mist falling
    - Purple flowers Growing

Mists blew by, I Closed my eyes, - Stove did the talking (Desolation Pops, 62)

Misurgirafical & plomlied
    - ding dang
The Buddha’s gang
(Desolation Pops, 65)
Moon behind Black clouds - Silver seas

Moon in the bird bath - One star too

Morning meadow - Catching my eye, On weed

Morning sun -
    The purple petals, Four have fallen

Moth sleeping on the newly plastered wall
- the spring rain

M’ugly spine - the loss of the kingdom Of Heaven
(Desolation Pops, 46)

Mule on the seashore
    One thousand foot Bridge above

My blue spruce in the pale Haze dusk

My butterfly came to sit in my flower, Sir Me

My cat eating at his saucer
- Spring moon

My cat’s asleep
    - poor little angel, the burden of flesh!

My Christ blinds are down - I’m reading about Virgin

My corncub pipe hot from the sun

My critics jiggle constantly like Poison ivy in the rain

My flashlight, where I put it this afternoon Twisted away in sleep My friend standing in my bedroom -
The spring rain

My hand,
  A thing with hairs, rising and falling with my belly

My hands on my lap June night,
Full moon

My Japanese blinds are down - I’m reading about Ethiopia

My rumpled couch
  - The lady's voice Next door

My rose arbor knows more about June Than it'll know about winter

My pipe unlit beside the Diamond Sutra - What to think?

Napoleon in bronze the burning Blakean mountains

Nat Wills, a tramp

(Desolation Pops, 34)

Neons, Chinese restaurants coming on - Girls come by shades

New aluminum grammar school
In old lamplight

New neighbors
  - light
In the old house

Nibbling his ankle, the mule’s teeth
Like kettle drum

Nightfall, boy smashing dandelions
with a stick

Nightfall - too dark to read the page, Too cold
to read the page, Too dark

Night rain - neighbors Arguing loud voices In next house

Night - six petals have fallen from Bodhidharma’s bouquet

Nirvana, as when the rain puts out a little fire

No imaginary judgments of form,
The clouds

No telegram today
- Only more Leaves fell

Nodding against the wall, the flowers Sneeze

Nose hairs in the moon
- My ass
Is cold

November - how nasal the drunken Conductor's call

November’s New Haven bagagemaster stiffly Disregards my glance

November the seventh
The last Faint cricket

Nored the Atlantican Astrologer weeps because the King Laid his Autumn girl!

October night, lights of Connecticut towns Across the sound

O for Vermont again -
The barn on an Autumn night

Oh another weekend’s started - people squeaking On U-turning tires
Oh I could drink up The whole Yellow River
In my love for Li Po!

Oh moon, such dismay?
- Earths betray
(Desolation Pops, 52)

Old man dying in a room - Groan
At five o’clock

Old man of Aix white hair, beret - Gone up the Cezanne street

On Desolation
   I was the alonest man in the world

One drop from
two more drops

One flower on the cliffside Nodding at the canyon

One foot on the bar of soap,
The Bluejay peeking

On Starvation Ridge little sticks Are trying to grow

On the sidewalk
   A dead baby bird For the ants

OO a continent in a birdbath - April full moon

Ooh! they kicked up a cloud of dust!
The birds in my yard

Or, walking the same or different paths
The moon follows each

O Sebastian, where art thou?
   Pa, watch over us!
Saints, thank you!

Peeking at the moon in January, Bodhisattva Takes a secret piss Perfect circle round
the moon
In the center of the sky

Perfectly silent in the starry night, the little tree

Perfect moonlit night marred By family squabbles

Phantom Rose Lust Is a Leopard

Pink petals on gnarly Japanese twigs In rain

Playing basketball
- the lady next door Watching again

Poor gentle flesh - there is No answer
(Desolation Pops, 36)

Poor tortured teeth under The blue sky
(Desolation Pops, 2)

Protected by the clouds,
the moon
Sleeps sailing

Prayerbeads on the Holy Book
- My knees are cold

Praying all the time - talking To myself

Propped up on my shoe the Diamond Sutra - Propped up on a pine root

Puddles at dusk
- one drop fell

Quietly pouring coffee in the afternoon, How pleasant!

Quiet moonlit night - Neighbor boy studying By telescope; - "Ooo!" Racing westward through the clouds in the howling wind, the moon

Rain in North Caroline
   - the saints
Are still meditating

Rain-in-the-Face looks from the hill: Custer down there

Rain’s over, hammer on wood
   - this cobweb
Rides the sun shine

Rainy night,
   the top leaves wave In the grey sky

Rainy night
   - I put on My pajamas

Reading my notes - The fly stepping from The page to the finger

Reading the sutra
   I decided To go straight

Red roses, white clouds, blue sky, In my birdbath

Red trees - the dog tears at an old itch.

Reflected upsidedown in the sunset lake, pines, Pointing to infinity

Resting watchfully, the cat and the squirrel Share the afternoon

Rig rig rig - that’s the rat
On the roof
(Desolation Pops, 55)

River wonderland -
   The emptiness
Of the golden eternity

Rock rosed - behind the Casbah
   - the sun has disappearing act Roses! Roses!
   robin wants his Evening bath!

Run after that body - run after A raging fire
(Desolation Pops, 4)

Run over my lawnmower, waiting for me to leave, The frog

Samsara in the morning
   - puppy yipping, Hot motor steaming

Satisfied, the pine bough washing In the waters
(Desolation Pops, 12)

Second thundershower over - the sun Is still high

September raindrops from my roof - Soon icicles

Seven birds in a tree, looking
In every direction

Sex - shaking to bread as Providence permits

Shall I break God's commandment?
   Little fly
Rubbing its back legs

Shall I heed God’s commandment?
   - wave breaking
On the rocks -

Shall I say no?
   - fly rubbing its back legs

She loves Lysander not Demetrius - Who? - Hermia

Ship paint on An old T-shirt
(Desolation Pops, 19)
Shooting star! - no, lightning bug! - ah, well, June night

Sitting Bull adjust his girdle: the smell Of smoking fish

Silent pipe - peace and quiet
In my heart

Sitting in the sun, no bugs yet - Yellow clover

Sixty sunsets have I seen revolve on this perpendicular hill

Skhandas my ass! - it's not Even that (Desolation Pops, 53)

Sleeping on my desk head on the sutras, my cat

Smell of burning leaves, The quiet pool at evening In August

Snap your finger stop the world!
- Rain falls harder

Snow in my shoe Abandoned Sparrow’s nest

Snow melting, streams rushing - Lookout leave the valley
(Desolation Pops, 20)

Snow on the grape arbor - the little dead raisins

So humid you cant light matches, like Living in a tank

Somebody rang my bell I said who?
O it doesn’t worldly care

Sometimes they sleep with their lights on, the June bugs Some trees still have naked winter look
- Spring day

Spring day -
  in my mind Nothing

Spring dusk on Fifth Avenue, A bird

Spring evening - hobo with hard on Like bamboo

Spring evening - the two Eighteen year old sisters

Spring is coming Yep, all that equipment for sighs

Spring moon
  on 2nd Avenue
- girl in white coat

Spring night - a leaf falling From my chimney

Spring night - the gleam of the fish head eye
In the grass

Spring night
  the silence Of the stars

Spring night - the sound of the cat Chewing fish heads

Spring night -
  the neighbor hammering In the new old house

Spring rain,
  Kicking stones An arrowhead

Standing on the end on top of the tree, The Big Dipper

Stare intently at my candle
- Pool of wax Staring at each other, Squirrel in the branch, Cat in the grass

Stop slipping me Your old Diamond Sutra
You illimitable tight-ass!

Straining at the padlock, the garage doors At noon

Suddenly the official goes cross eyed And floats away

Summer afternoon - impatiently chewing The jasmine leaf

Summer night -
   I put out
The empty milk bottle

Summer night -
   the kitten playing With the Zen calendar

Sunday in a bar in Woodland Calif.
- One noon beer

Sunday - the sky is blue,
The flowers are red

Sunny day - bird tracks & cat tracks In the snow

Sun on the rocks - a fighting snag Holds on (Desolation Pops, 6)

Sun shining on A distant mountain
- the low moon

Surprising cat fight in the parlor on a Blustery September night

Sweet birds, chordless except in another Clime

Swinging on delicate hinges the Autumn Leaf Almost off the stem Taghagata [=Tathagata] neither loathes nor loves His body’s milk or shit

Take up a cup of water from the ocean And there I am

Temple trees across the creek
- Fog blowing

Terraces of fern in the dripping Redwood shade

Thanks to Coolidge, Hoover - Hoover - but Autumn, Roosevelt done America in That's an unencouraging sign, the fish store is closed

The Angel’s hair trailed on my chin Like a cobweb

The ant struggles escaping from the web - The spider’s non-comment

The backyard I tried to draw
    - It still looks
The same

The barking dog - Kill him
With a bicycle wheel

The barn, swimming in a sea
Of windblown leaves

The beautiful red dogwood tree Waiting for the cross

The bird came on the branch
    - danced three times - And buried away

The birds start singing but he is in the cat meadows

The bird’s still on top of that tree, High above the fog

The birds surprise me On all sides

The book stands all by itself
on the shelf

The bottoms of my shoes are clean
From walking in the rain

The carpenter of spring the Zen of hammer and nail

The castle of the Gandharvas is full of aging Young couples

The cat: a little body being used By a little person

The cat musing along the ground - cold gray day

The clouds are

The clouds assume as I assume, Faces of hermits
(Desolation Pops, 11)

The cows of Autumn - laughing along the fence, Roosters at Dawn

The cow, taking a big dreamy crap, turning To look at me

The creamer gives, the groaner quakes - the angel smiles
(Desolation Pops, 50)

The cricket in my cellar window, this quiet Sunday afternoon

The crickets - crying for rain - Again?

The days go - They cant stay - I don’t realize
(Desolation Pops, 49)

The dog yawned and almost swallowed My Dharma
The dregs of my coffee Glisten
In the morning light The droopy constellation on the grassy hill - Emily Dickinson’s Tomb
The earth keeps turning like a dreary Immortal
The earth winked at me - right In the john The falling snow - The hissing radiators - The bride out there The flies on the porch and the fog on the peaks Are so sad
The flowers don’t seem to mind the stupid May sunshine The fly, just as lonesome as I am In this empty house The full moon - the cat gone - My sleeping mother
The gently moving leaves
Of the August afternoon The Golden Gate
creaks
With sunset rust
The hermit’s broom, the fire, the kettle
- August night
The housecats, amazed at something new,
Looking in the same direction
The jazz trombone,
The moving curtain,
- Spring rain
The leaves, fighting the empty sky - No clouds helping

THE LIGHT BULB
STOPPED READING

The little sparrow on my eave drainpipe Is looking around

The little sparrow on the eave drainpipe My heart flutters

The little white cat
 Walks in the grass
With his tail up in the air

The little worm lowers itself from the roof By a self shat thread

The little white cat

 moon above
The quiet lamplit house

The mansion of the moon
Has hidden faces

The microscopic red bugs in the sea-side sand Do they meet and greet?

The mind of the flower regards my mind Externally

The mist in front of the morning mountains
 - late Autumn

The moon had a cat's mustache, For a second

The moon is a Blind lemon
(Desolation Pops, 54)

The moon is moving, thru the clouds
Like a slow balloon

The moon is white - the lamps are Yellow

The moon,
the falling star
- Look elsewhere

The mountains are mighty patient, Buddha-man
(Desolation Pops, 18)

The mule, turning slowly, rubbing his Behind on a log

The national scene
    - late afternoon sun
In those trees

The new moon is the toe nail Of God

The night is red with stars

"The old pond, yes!
    - the water jumped into By a frog"

The other man, just as lonesome as I am
In this empty universe

The pine woods move In the mist

The poppies! -
    I could die
In delicacy now

The postman is late
    - The toilet window
Is shining

The purple wee flower should be reflected In that low water

The racket of the starlings in the trees - My cat’s back

The raindrops have plenty of personality - Each one

The rain has filled the birdbath Again, almost

The red paper waves for the breeze
- the breeze

The red roof of the barn is ravelled Like familiar meat

There is no deep turning-about In the Void

There’s no Buddha because There’s no me

There’s nothing there because
I don’t care
(Desolation Pops, 24)

The robin on the television antenna, Something on his beak

The rose moves like a Reichian disciple On its stem

These little gray sparrows on the roof I’ll shot my editor

The sky is still empty, the rose is still On the typewriter keys

The sleeping moth -
he doesn’t know
The lamps turned up again

The smiling fish - where are they,
Scouting bird?
(Desolation Pops, 8)

The smoke of old naval battles Is gone

The son packs quietly as the Mother sleeps

The son who wants solitude, Enveloped
In his room

The sound of silence is all the instruction You’ll get

The Spring moon - How many miles away Those orange blossoms!

The stars are racing real fast
Through the clouds

The storm, like Dostoevsky Builds up as it lists
(Desolation Pops, 37)

The strumming of the trees reminded me
Of immortal afternoon

The summer chair rocking by itself In the blizzard

The sun keeps getting dimmer - foghorns began to blow in the bay

The Sunny Breeze will come to me Presently

The taste of rain - Why kneel?
(Desolation Pops, 29)

The top of Jack Mountain - done in By golden clouds
(Desolation Pops, 26)

The train speeding thru emptiness
- I was a trainman

The tree looks like a dog Barking at Heaven

The tree moving in the moonlight
Wise to me

The trees, already bent in the windless Oklahoma plain

The trees are putting on Noh plays - Booming, roaring

The vigorous bell-ringing priest the catch in the harbor
The white cat
   Is green in the tree shade, Like Gauguin’s horse

The white chair is holding its arms out to Heaven - dandelions

The whiteness of the houses in the moon Snow everywhere

The windmills of Oklahoma look

"The wind agrees with me not the sun" - Washlines

The wind sent a leaf on the robin’s back

The word HANDICAPPED sliding over snow On a newspaper

The yellow dolls bow - Poor lady Is dead

This July evening, A large frog
On my doorsill

This October evening, the velvet eyes
Of Manju[sh]ri

Those birds sitting out there on the fence - They're all going to die.

Three little sparrows
   on the roof
Talking quietly, sadly

Three pencils arranged, Three minutes,
Sambaghakaya [=Sambhogakaya], Nirvanakaya [=Nirmanakaya], Dharmakaya

Thunder and snow - how We shall go!
(Desolation Pops, 48)

Thunder in the mountains - the iron
Of my mother's love
(Desolation Pops, 47)
Thunderstorm over
   - there! The light is on again

Time keeps running out
   - sweat
On my brow, from playing

To the South,
   in the moonlight,
A sash of cloud

Tonight I'll lower my tail - I've seen them around town

(Tonight)that star is waving & flaming Something awful

Too hot to write haiku - crickets and mosquitoes

Train on the horizon - my window rattles

Train tunnel, too dark for me to write: that "Men are ignorant"

Trees can't reach for a glass Of water

Trying to study sutras, the kitten on my page Demanding affection

Tuesday - one more drop of rain
From my roof

Twilight - the bird in the bush In the rain

Two ants hurry to catch up With lonely Joe

Two cars passing on the freeway
   - Husband and wife

Two clouds kissing backed up to look At each other Two Japanese boys singing Inky Dinky Parly Voo

Useless! useless!
   - heavy rain driving Into the sea

Velvet horses in the valley auction - Woman sings

Voices of critics in the theater lobby - A moth on the carpet

Walking along the night beach,
   - Military music
On the boulevard.

Walking down road with Allen - Walking down the road in Autumn.

Walking down the road with Allen
   - An old dream
   the same dream.

Walking down the road/a crushed snake.
   autumn
Red trees -

Walking down the road with dog
   - a crushed leaf

   with dog - a crushed snake.

Walking down the road with Jack -
   a crushed snake

Walking with the dog on the road
   - a crooked leaf.

Walking on the water wasn’t Built in a day

Walking over the water my shadow, Heavier than lead

WARM WIND makes the pines Talk Deep

Wednesday blah blah blah - My mind hurts
(Desolation Pops, 42)
Who cares about the pop-off trees of Provence?
A road’s a road

Why’d I open my eyes?
because I wanted to

Winking over his pipe the Buddha lumberman Nowhere

Work of the quiet mountain, this Torrent of purity
(Desolation Pops, 5)

Worm is looking at the moon,
Waiting for me

Wash hung out by moonlight
- Friday night

Washing my face with snow Beneath the Little Dipper

Waiting for the leaves to fall; -
There goes one!

Waiting for the Zipper 4 PM -
Sun in West clouds, gold

Water in the birdbath
- a film of ice
On the moon

Waiting with me for the end of this ephemeral Existence - the moon

Water in a hole
- behold
The sodden skies

Waving goodbye, the little girl, Backing up

Well here I am,
2 PM -
What day is it?

Wet fog shining In lamplit leaves Whatever it is, I quit
   - now I'll let my breath out -

What could be newer? this new little bird
Not yet summer fat!

When the moon sinks down to the power line, I'll go in

What is a rainbow, Lord? - a hoop
For the lowly

What is Buddhism?
   - A crazy little Bird blub

What passes through is amusing Himself being dew
(Desolation Pops, 58)

While meditating
   I am Buddha - Who else?

White clouds of this steamy planet obstruct My vision of the blue void

White rose with red splashes - Oh
Vanilla ice cream cherry!

Who wd have guessed that a January moon could be so orange!

Why explain?
   bear burdens In silence

Wild to sit on a haypile, Writing Haikus,
Drinkin wine

Wind too strong
   - empty nest
At midnight

Windows rattling in the wind I’m a lousy lover

Wine at dawn
   - The long Rainy sleep Winter - that sparrow’s nest
Still empty

Wish I were a rooster and leave my sperm On the sidewalk, shining!

"Woo!" - bird of perfect balance on the fir Just moved his tail
(Desolation Pops, 63)

Wooden house raw gray - Pink light in the window

Woke up groaning with a dream of a priest Eating chicken necks

Yard tonight an eerie moon leafshroud
A midsummernight’s dream

Yellow halfmoon cradled among the horizontal boards Of my fence

"You and me"
  I sang
Looking at the cemetery

You’d be surprised how little I knew Even up to yesterday

You paid yr homage to the moon,
And she sank

Your belly’s too big for your Little teeth
(Desolation Pops, 66)
